Assignment 1: A Figure for the Anthropocene

Name: Joshua Gao

"hap" (n) def. chance, fortune, fate. it just so *hap*pened; *hap*piness.

The human figure in this collage was created through computational random number generation: numbers were sampled from the trajectory of a chaotic system at various points across space and time. These samples define the initial form of the canvas, after which, a statistical rejection method defined by a double pendulum was used to gradually create [excavate] the human form. A figure for the Anthropocene, created [discovered] by a process both deterministic and random; destined, yet by chance.
